The insurance policies subscribed to are archived electronically by ING Belgium or, if applicable, the insurer for a minimum period of 10 years following the end of the contract. During this period you can request this data from your ING branch or by sending a letter to ING Belgium's registered office (ING Belgium SA/NV, Avenue Marnix/Marnixlaan 24 - B-1000 Brussels) or to the insurer (the contact details for the insurers are available in section 1, 'General information on ING's service providers').

3. Cost and payment of insurance

A. Before an insurance contract is concluded, ING Belgium will inform you of the total amount of the insurance premium, including costs, taxes and associated costs for which you will be charged, depending on the cover you require.

In its role as a broker, ING works on the basis of commissions (which are included in the insurance premiums) and/or non-monetary benefits distributed either to ING or to its employees.

All customers may obtain more information on this subject from their branch or by e-mail (inducements.ingbelgium.be) on request.

B. This information and the terms and conditions for payment are listed in at least one of the following documents:

- Your contract (or proposal thereof) provided prior to it being signed;
- The General Conditions;
- The information sheet;
- The leaflet detailing charges applied to the main banking operations of private individuals or private entities.

C. Depending on the type of insurance and method of subscription chosen, insurance premiums are paid by SEPA direct debit, credit card, payment card or sending money in euro.

4. The right of withdrawal only available to customers for contracts concluded remotely

A. Any remote insurance contract, as described in Book VI of the Code of Economic Law, is considered concluded when the insurer receives your acceptance.

B. When a remote insurance contract is concluded as a customer, namely any private individual for purposes not related to their trade, business, craft or profession, you and the insurer have the right to cancel your contract without penalty and without having to provide justification.

C. For life insurance policies, the cancellation period is thirty days upon receipt of confirmation from the insurer that the insurance contract has been concluded.

For other insurance policies, this period is fourteen days from the day the insurance contract is concluded. The cancellation period only begins on the day you receive the contractual terms and conditions and all other additional information, if this date is later than those stated above.

You must send the message exercising your right to cancellation before this period expires.

D. The right to cancellation above does not apply:

- a) to travel or luggage insurance policies or similar short-term insurance policies of less than one month's duration;
- b) to contracts executed in full by you and by the insurer at your express request before you exercised your right to withdrawal.

E. In order to exercise your right to cancellation, you must inform the insurer of your decision to cancel your policy in writing by registered post or by going into an ING branch.

You will find your insurer's address in section 1, 'General information on ING's service providers'. You may, if you so wish, use the standard withdrawal form provided in the appendix.

Any cancellation on your part comes into effect the moment notice is received, whereas cancellation by the insurer comes into effect eight days following notification.

F. When a remote insurance contract is cancelled and you have already agreed to the execution of the contract, you will be held liable to pay as soon as possible the premiums for the period prior to the cancellation taking effect for which cover was granted, on a pro rata basis.

You will also be held liable to return to the insurer, as soon as possible and at the latest within thirty calendar days from the date that notification of cancellation was sent, any sum received from them.

The insurer, for its part, will return to you, as soon as possible and at the latest within a period of thirty calendar days from reception of your withdrawal notice, any amount received from you, with deductions made for the abovementioned sum.

5. All customers' right to cancel

A. You have the right to cancel a life insurance contract within a period of thirty calendar days from the date on which the contract came into effect. Cancellation takes effect immediately upon notification.

For an insurance contract created from a pre-signed policy or a request for insurance, both you and the insurer have the right to cancel the contract within a period of thirty days for life insurance policies and fourteen days for other types of insurance. In the event of cancellation by you, the period in question runs from the date when the contract came into effect and, in the event of cancellation by the insurer, from the date the pre-signed policy or request for insurance was received.

Any cancellation on your part comes into effect the moment notice is received, whereas cancellation by the insurer comes into effect eight days following notification.

Deductions for risk cover and possible compensation may be applied by the insurer, if applicable.

These cancellation options are not available for contracts with a duration of less than thirty days.

B. For information regarding the term of your contract, minimum possible term, cancellation options, reduction or repurchase as well as the terms and conditions and any possible compensation due, please consult:

- the General Conditions and/or information document about the insurance product that were sent to you and are available at www.ing.be and in all ING branches;
- and/or the specific terms and conditions of your contract.

C. You may cancel your life insurance contract, whatever its term, each year on the date the contract was executed or the due date of the annual premium.

Other insurance contracts are automatically renewed for consecutive one-year periods, unless you or the insurer gives notice at least three months before the contract term expires.

Both you and the insurer may also cancel the contract when the period between it being concluded and coming into effect is greater than one year. Notice of this cancellation must be provided at the latest three months before the expiry of the contract.

The provisions contained within this paragraph do not apply to insurance contracts with a term shorter than one year.

D. The contract must be cancelled by means of a writ or a letter sent by registered mail or recorded delivery to the address given above of the insurer concerned. Cancellation following default is enacted upon formal notice. You may request cancellation at ING branches.

E. Apart from specific exceptions and cancellation following a claim, cancellation only takes effect upon the expiry of a minimum period of one month from the day after formal service, the day after formal acknowledgement of receipt or, in the case of registered post, the day after delivery.

F. When one party cancels an insurance contract for any reason, the premiums paid to cover the insurance period after the date the cancellation takes effect are repaid within a period of thirty days from the date the cancellation comes into effect. The refund will be made using the same payment method used for the initial transaction, unless you expressly agree to a different method. You will incur no further costs as a result of this refund.

G. This section in no way prejudices the specific terms and conditions that apply to cancellation resulting from default on the part of the other party or following a claim.
